

FIRST GENERATION

POPE

1. Rita WOOD [S1,S2,S3] was born on Jan 15 1837 in Jones Valley, (East Lake/Bham), AL. Baptized in 1861. Died in 1947 in Birmingham (Roebuck), AL. Buried on Nov 9 1947.

Rita "Ritter" Wood was born a slave on January 15, 1837 in what was then known as Jones Valley, AL, now known as the Eastlake section of the city of Birmingham. The original owners sold her to the Wood family. Her birth was recorded in the Wood family Bible as "Rita Wood, the property of Obediah Washington Wood". The Wood family were Christians, and were reported to have been very good to their slaves. The Wood family gave the slaves time off to worship on Sunday, and carried them to their church -- Ruhama Baptist Church -- which was founded in 1819.

Rita had one sister. Her name was Thannie. The slave master was the father of both sisters. Thannie married a Wood.

A written Ruhama Baptist Church history, authored by Superior Court Judge Thomas E. Huey, states Mother Rita was baptized, in 1861, along with some other slaves, by the late Reverend Andrew Jackson Waldrop.

At the age of fifteen, Rita married John Adam Bates. They had five children -- John Adam, Gus, Cunningham, and twin girls, Mary and Fannie.

In 1865, former slaves began to organize their own churches. At the age of sixteen, Rita had become a Christian. She gave up everything except her family. The people from Ruhama Baptist Church helped to build Pleasant Hill Baptist Church so the former slaves would have a church of their own. It was founded in an area called Killough Springs. At the time of her funeral in 1947, Mother Rita was listed as a member in good standing since 1869. She was living with her daughter, Mary Bates Pope, at the time of her death.

There has been much written about Rita Wood Bates. Two accounts follow:

By Lee Franklin, Interim Pastor Coosada Church, Coosada, AL -- Pastor's Paragraph "True Freedom", date first published unknown

"Once upon a time, I knew a slave, (an ex-slave). She was 27 years old when the war ended in 1865 and the word went out, shouted from one slave to another, 'We are free! Free! We can do as we please. We have no master, Thank God we are Free!!!'

POPE (11P1) |

"My mother died in 1914 leaving six children, ages 2-12 and Aunt Ritter Bates, the ex-slave came to care for and to love these children. I remember her story about that great day, the day of liberation. She and her husband, who belonged to another farmer, took their two children and started walking. Free! Free! No one could yell at them, no one could stop them. Night came, they were hungry, they slept in an old barn. The children cried for food. The night was chilly, they were cold. They went back to her old master. Aunt Ritter said 'If Mr. Wood had food we had food' She quoted Jesus. 'We could go in and out and find pasture.' Forty years later I had a part in her funeral.

"This saint was never a slave from the day she became a Christian at 16 until she died. Her soul was free. She was free from hate, free from anger, from jealousy (sic), from lust and so many other vices.

"She was free to love, to minister and to talk about Jesus who had given her peace, joy, patience, gentleness, meekness and abounding faith.

"After all is said about freedom; this is the only liberty that really matters; the liberty found in Christ. This liberty can be found in China, or Russia or Alabama.

" 'He whom the Son makes free is free indeed' "

✓ Newspaper Article "Former Negro Slave Talkin' To Lord Now After Slipping Away At Age Of 110", Published in November 1947, ~~Written by Judge Thomas E. Huey~~

The lord and Aunt Rita Bates probably were discussing things today and somebody maybe was getting a good talking-to.

"I declare," she'd say, "I doan know why He keep me heah so long--me being ready to go since I wuz 90. But He got His reason. I'll find out about that later."

As Alabama's oldest former slave, Aunt Rita often said that--before an easy death yesterday at two months shy of 111 years of age--but then'd she pass on to more pleasant things.

← MARRIES AT 15

✓ "Why come I marry-up at 15? _____-dee, you know dey want us to marry-up young and have lots of chillun!"

She had a notion she may have "sinned some" in her youth and that troubled her sometimes. But she'd think hard about it and mostly the wicked incident would come out in a merry, rolling cuckle.

LIVES IN CABIN

"Now ah used to do a little drinking when Ah wuz a young house-gal. De ol' mahster, he kept a fine keg of whiskey with little airholes in de sides. Us gals would get little hollow canes, stick 'em down in the holes an' take a suck every once in a while."

The old Negro lived with her youngest child, Mary, 77, in a cabin out in Roebuck so spic-and-span "eben de ol' mistress would lak its looks."

A horde of grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren heard often how Aunt Rita and that mistress, Susan Hawkins Wood, "refugee'd" toward Talladega, Mrs. Wood wearing six pairs of men's trousers under her dress to save from the Yankees.

Once when an upstart of a 50-year-old grandson tried to help her recall a happening of 80 years back, she called out sharply: "You keep out of this! You wuzn't dere, now wuz you?"

BORN A SLAVE

Like the old Wood family Bible which records her birth as Jan. 15, 1837, "the property of Obediah Washington Wood," the former slave, at death, was frail and wrinkled and her skin, naturally light, like old paper had turned an apricot yellow.

Further proof that Aunt Rita lived out five-score and 10 years comes in a history of (white) Ruhama Baptist Church published recently by Thomas E. Huey. "Rita," he wrote, "was baptized at 24 in Ruhama, along with other slaves, in the year 1861 by the Rev. Andrew Jackson Waldrop."

Aunt Rita, herself, only knew "Ah been heah a mighty long time" and "keepin' in close touch with de Lawd" may have had something to do with it.

But she also observed often:

"Ah keeps ready to go at any time but ah wish he'd hurry."

Funeral services are scheduled for Sunday at the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church in Killough Springs where she had been a member in good standing since 1869.

Mary A. Pope Walker spent her childhood with her parents, sisters, and brothers in a section called Pleasant Hill. She attended Industrial High School (Parker High).

At an early age, she joined the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church, and joined Brownsville United Methodist Church following her marriage to Robert N. Walker, Sr. They made their home in the Dolcito section of Tarrant City, AL. From their union, twelve children were born. All were baptized in the Brownsville United Methodist Church.

In 1954, they moved to the Loveman Village in the southwest section of Birmingham. In 1960, they purchased a homesite in the Brownsville (Airport Hills) section.

She was a devoted mother, and continued to do a fine job in guiding, providing for, and educating her children even after her husband's death in April 1964. She was a devout Christian and instilled all of her moral and spiritual strengths into her children.

In November 1964, upon the death of her older sister Bertha Walker, she continued to inspire not only her own children, but the ten children of her sister. She also cared for, and was the legal guardian through sickness and burial, of her husband's sisters and brothers. In addition to her own children, she reared two of Helen Walker Dunning's, her husband's sister, children. Pauline Dunning Huffman and Moody L. Dunning are considered full sister and brother to her own children.

Mary A. Walker was a living symbol of the strength of a Christian woman. She was known most for the emotional impact of her singing of Gospel songs. Her favorite song was "Precious Lord". Her favorite sayings were "Man is Mighty, but God is Almighty" and "Without God, I can do nothing".

In the late 1960's and 1970's, the strength of this great woman created an unbelievable ethos of family love and joy. Her strength failed her following the many deaths .. her husband, sister, three sons, relatives, and many close Christian friends. She was truly a Christian woman who tried to love everybody. Her life has left a mark of love wherever she went throughout this country. She felt deeply the sorrows and joys of all whom which she came in contact.

She was commonly known by all the friends of her children, and affectionately called by all, "Big Mama".
